DECISION OF THE HEARING REPRESENTATIVE

In the matter of the claim for compensation under Title 5, U.S. Code 8101 et seq. of _____, Claimant; Employed by the U.S. Postal Service in Columbia, South Carolina; Case No. _____; Hearing was held on JANUARY 9, 2008 in Atlanta, Georgia.

The issue is whether the claimant sustained an injury on March 19, 2007 in the performance of duty as claimed.

The claimant, _____, born _____, has been employed with the U.S. Postal Service as a rural mail carrier. On June 21, 2007 she filed a timely Notice of Traumatic Injury and Claim for compensation, claiming that she sustained a sciatic nerve injury on March 19, 2007 while she was processing very heavy mail. She stopped work on March 26, 2007. In a statement accompanying her claim the claimant wrote that she first noticed the pain on March 19, 2007 but that she continued to work until March 26, 2007. She also stated that she believed the repetitive stress of bending and lifting that she performed over many years contributed to her back condition.

Medical evidence introduced in support of the claim includes reports from Dr. Gerald Long, DC, chiropractor. Dr. Long wrote on May 22, 2007 that he had treated the claimant since March 26, 2007 for radiating back pain. He stated that the claimant advised him that she had hurt her back one week prior to the visit when she was lifting heavy mail bags. He diagnosed L3 subluxation. He stated that the claimant's symptoms and pain indicate that the claimant had an injury as she described. Also of record is a report dated June 13, 2007 from Dr. John Hibbitts, MD. Dr. Hibbitts stated that he had been following the claimant for a herniated disc. He opined:

“Although her symptoms reportedly occurred at work, her work activities that require repeated twisting and lifting maneuvers have contributed to herniated disc. I would not say that it was a direct cause. She did have some underlying arthritic changes and those two combined contributed to this problem.”

By letters dated July 7, 2007 the District Office of Workers' Compensation Programs requested that the claimant submit medical evidence to support her claim of injury on March 19, 2007. The Office also advised the claimant of the requirements for chiropractor services.

The Office denied the claim on August 7, 2007.

The claimant's attorney, Paul Felser, requested an oral hearing on the claimant's behalf and submitted additional evidence, including an April 9, 2007 report from Dr. Robert Smith, MD. According to Dr. Smith, Dr. Long took an x-ray. Dr. Smith diagnosed sciatica. He did not opine with regard to causation. In a report dated May 22, 2007 Dr. Smith stated that the claimant did not mention workers' compensation at the time of the first visit on April 9, 2007.

A billing form indicates that an x-ray was taken on April 20, 2007 by Palmetto Bone and Joint PA, and another form shows that Dr. Long took an x-ray on April 6, 2007. Another billing form shows that an x-ray was taken on July 17, 2007. The x-rays reports were not submitted.

Mr. Felser represented the claimant at the Hearing held on January 9, 2008 in Atlanta, Georgia. The claimant did not appear for the Hearing. Mr. Felser acknowledged that the claimant had implicated her repetitive duties as well as the one-time incident of lifting on March 19, 2007. It was also pointed out that the claimant had not explained why she delayed in filing the claim. It was agreed that the record would remain open for 30 days in order that additional evidence might be submitted.

Following the Hearing Mr. Felser submitted additional evidence, including an argument and copies of previously submitted evidence. Also submitted was an August 6, 2007 report from Dr. James Loging, MD. Dr. Loging related that the claimant presented with complaints of back and hip pain that began on March 19, 2007. He stated that the pain started suddenly and there was no injury associated with it. He diagnosed L4/5 disc. Notes from Dr. Hibbitts dated April 27, 2007, May 23, 2007, and July 25, 2007 make no reference to the claimant's employment. In another April 27, 2007 note, however, Dr. Hibbitts related that the claimant complained of pain beginning on March 19, 2007 while she was repeatedly twisting in her postal vehicle.

I have carefully evaluated all evidence of record, to include the Hearing testimony and the evidence submitted after the Hearing. I find that there is now evidence sufficient to compel further case development.

A claimant has the burden of establishing by the weight of the reliable, probative and substantial evidence that the condition for which compensation is claimed was caused or adversely affected by factors of the federal employment.¹

Montage*, 48 ECAB ___ (Docket No. 95-51, issued January 15, 1997).

Office regulations specify that reimbursable chiropractic services are limited to treatment consisting of manual manipulation of the spine to correct a subluxation as demonstrated by x-rays to exist. Also included for payment or reimbursement are physical examinations (and related laboratory tests) and x-rays performed by or required by a chiropractor to diagnose a subluxation of the spinal column. A chiropractor may interpret his or her x-rays to the same extent as any other physician defined in this section.²

Proceedings under the FECA are not adversarial in nature nor is the Office a disinterested arbiter. The Office has an obligation to see that justice is done. While the claimant has the burden to establish entitlement to compensation, the Office shares responsibility in the development of the evidence.³

I do not find that the present evidence is sufficient to support the claim. Note that Doctors Hibbitts, Smith, and Logging do not indicate that the claimant sustained an injury on March 19, 2007 as claimed. Dr. Hibbitts concluded that any effects on the claimant's underlying condition were due to general repeated work duties rather than a one time injury. Dr. Smith noted only that the claimant did not initially mention a work injury. He also indicated that the x-ray showed sciatica rather than subluxation. Finally, Dr. Logging indicated that there was no actual injury associated with the onset of back pain.

It is only Dr. Long who found evidence of a March 19, 2007 work injury. He stated that the claimant sustained a subluxation of the spine as a result. There is now evidence that Dr. Long performed an x-ray, but as noted above, the balance of the medical evidence is in contradiction to his conclusions. I find that a second opinion is in order to determine definitively whether the claimant sustained an injury on March 19, 2007 in the performance of duty as claimed. To that regard the Office should obtain the three x-rays mentioned above. The Office should also prepare a Statement of Accepted Facts and refer the claimant, together with the Statement, x-rays and all medical records, to an appropriate Board-certified specialist. The specialist should provide the Office with a rationalized opinion as to whether the claimant sustained an injury on March 19, 2007 due to processing heavy mail on that date. In his report the specialist should discuss all medical records and attempt to resolve the contradictions found therein. He should also review all x-rays and offer an opinion with regard to the diagnosis of subluxation.

When the specialist's report is received, and after any other case development that may become necessary, the Office should issue a de novo decision.
