DECISION OF THE HEARING REPRESENTATIVE

In the matter of the claim for compensa	ation under Title 5. U.S. Code 8101 et. seq. of
, Claimant, Employed by	the
Case No.	Telephonic Hearing was held on June 19, 2013

The issue for determination is whether the medical evidence demonstrates that the claimant's death was causally related to his employment.

The claimant was employed as an with the , Supply and Services Division for the when his wife filed a CA-5, Claim for Compensation by Widow, Widower, and/or children following the death of her husband, , on October 2, 2010.

In response to development letters from the District Office, both the employees' widow as well as the employing agency supplied additional information, and medical evidence was submitted from the claimant's attending physician.

After reviewing the evidence of file, this claim was denied by decision dated March 31, 2011, when the District Office determined that the claimant's death did not occur while in the performance of duty.

Several decisions have been issued in this case, and they are incorporated herein by reference.

Following an appeal, this file was remanded to the District Office for further development, when the Hearing Representative determined that that the factual evidence demonstrated that the claimant's death occurred in the performance of duty but that the medical evidence was insufficient to establish a causal relationship between the work factors and the claimant's death.

In accordance with the remand order, the medical evidence was sent for a second opinion review of the records by a Board-certified cardiologist. The claimant's medical records and the Statement of Accepted Facts were reviewed by Dr. and on , he opined that the claimant's death was not causally related to the identified work factors

After reviewing Dr. report, the District Office denied this claim by decision dated December 27, 2012.

The claimant disagreed with that decision and requested an oral hearing, which was scheduled and held on June 19, 2013. The claimant was represented by attorney Paul Felser, who argued that he wanted a copy of the second opinion examiner's curriculum vitae to be entered into the record to determine whether his level of experience and/or training was as extensive of that of Dr. the claimant's treating physician. He argued that the report of Dr. was, at the least, sufficiently rationalized to require a referee examination.

Mr. Felser also argued that the District Office incorrectly discounted that the claimant's smoking habit was aggravated by his stress at work, which in turn aggravated his underlying condition, despite the fact that both the claimant's wife and Dr. stated that this occurred.

A copy of the transcript was sent to the employing agency for review and comment.

The record was held open for thirty days to allow for the submission of additional evidence.

Based upon hearing testimony, together with the written evidence of record, I find that the decision of the District Office should be SET ASIDE AND REMANDED for further development of the medical evidence.

Section 8123(a) provides that, if there is disagreement between the physician making the examination for the United States and the physician of the employee, the Secretary shall appoint a third physician who shall make an examination.<sup>1</sup>

The Board has interpreted the section 8123(a) to require more than a simple disagreement between two physicians. To constitute a true conflict of medical opinion, the opposing physicians' reports must be of virtually equal weight and rationale.<sup>2</sup>

With regards to the attorney's argument that the claimant's wife and Dr. had established that the claimant's smoking habit had been aggravated by his stress at work, I do not agree. I find that it is the opinion of the claimant's wife and physician that the claimant's job aggravated his smoking addiction, which in turn aggravated his underlying conditions; however, there is no proof of this. Therefore, the Statement of Accepted Facts as written is accurate.

In the instant case, the claimant's attending physician, Dr. submitted another medical report, in which he called into question the New England Journal of Medicine cites referenced by Dr. in support of his opinion that the claimant' death was due to a rupture of a known cerebral aneurysm. He has also submitted several medical reports describing in detail the claimant's work activities in the months preceding his death, and has offered a well-reasoned medical opinion to support that the claimant's death was caused, at least in part, by the stress "associated with fulfilling his job-related duties."

Therefore, after reviewing the medical evidence of file, to include the reports of Dr. as well as Dr I find that a conflict of medical opinion exists that requires an impartial examination. Dr. is a board-certified specialist and he had to opportunity to examine the claimant on numerous occasions; therefore, I find his report must be considered of equal weight to the report of Dr.

Upon receipt of this file, the District Office must arrange an impartial examination with a Board-certified cardiologist to examine the medical records, as well as the Statement of Accepted Facts that is currently on file, to determine whether the claimant's death was directly caused, aggravated, or accelerated by any of the accepted compensable factors of employment. The physician must be specific in his opinion, and provide medical rationale in support of his conclusions. Following this, and any further development deemed necessary, the District Office should issue a de novo decision regarding the claim for survivor's benefits.

Consistent with the above findings, the December 27, 2012 District Office decision is set aside and remanded for further development.

The file is returned for further processing as noted.
